"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." — Preamble to the Declaration of Independence

FINRA will be held accountable for infringing upon the Declaration of Independence if you are to issue a test to be able to invest in "complex products."

We are always watching and are forever standing in our truth, so help us God.
