I run a systematic quarterly rebalancing plan that is powered by leveraged ETFs, specifically MVV AND TQQQ. These leveraged products are a key part of my financial plan and I have a proper understanding of how to manage them in my brokerage/retirement accounts.

These funds are important to me and more importantly for the future of my family. They improve my performance over the long term which I plan to pass down to my children. I am not engaged in reckless trading, I have never believed in day trading and I am totally against such forms of investing. I understand the effect of daily magnification of an index's price movement, and I use this magnification to my advantage.

I prefer no third party evaluating my capability of managing these funds, and certainly do not want one preventing me from buying them.

If leveraged funds are restricted to accredited or wealthy investors only, the wealth gap in the country will increase as the rich get richer in sophisticated products while everybody else languishes in plain old index funds.

Please keep leveraged funds available to all investors.
