

From: Greg Watson
To: Comments, Public
Subject: Inverse and leveraged ETF's
Date: Wednesday, May 4, 2022 11:02:54 AM

WARNING: External Sender! Exercise caution with links, attachments and requests for login information.

FINRA,

I am contacting you today to ask you to not remove retail investors access to inverse and leveraged ETFs. I am a retail trader and love the benefits I can achieve by trading these ETFs. if you would like for brokers to ensure the trader has an understanding of these ETFs that might be okay but to do away with them would have a negative effect on the way I trade.

In my opinion if individuals do not take the time to explore and consider the positive and negative aspects on what they are trading, that should be on them. Don't punish me for someone else's failure to review a product before investing in it.

The problem today is we fail to make people responsible for their own choices.

I have read your article about regulatory notice 22-08 and I would appreciate if FINRA did not assume that these ETFs are too complex for us. That statement was a bit insulting.

Thank you,
Greg Watson