I am an investor in leveraged ETF products and understand the volatility and risk associated with such an investment. Since I am a long term holder in these products and don't try and time the market, these instruments are an important part of my strategy for long term gains. The specific holdings I own are stock tickers TQQQ and MVV. They are a small part of my portfolio but can make a significant impact on returns over the long term. Please consider keeping these funds and funds like them accessible to everyone.

Sincerely,
Travis Walker
